With shades of brick starting at its edges, the heady aromatics of a wine in its second decade of transformation are immediately apparent: spiced macerated cherries and blackberries, mocha, the cracked spines of old books, raw beef and hoisin-glazed mushrooms. With shades of brick starting at its edges, the heady aromatics of a wine in its second decade of transformation are immediately apparent: spiced macerated cherries and blackberries, mocha, the cracked spines of old books, raw beef and hoisin-glazed mushrooms. 926	Kracher No(ble) Wine Nr. 12 Zwischen den Seen 2002 0,375 l Burgenland 98 The Wine Advocate: "...2002 #12 is a libation of Scheurebe and (20%) Welscherriesling that never achieved the 5% alcohol to officially become wine. Indeed, it was time and again refused authorization to label because it seems there is nothing one can say about it that wont fly in the face of some law or another. (The EU provided a special dispensation to Hungary for the labeling of Tokaji Esszencia as wine, but no such exception has been envisaged for any other member state.) Krachers penultimate plan of desperation was to label it a la Magritte No Wine. When that received the governmental slap-down, it became simply #12. Given the limbo status of this libation and given that I am only just debuting in the pages of this celebrated journal devoted to wine I could legally duck responsibility to rate #1. Furthermore, it practically goes without saying that this elixir is embryonic, and hiding more for all of its intensity and virtually endless length than it shows. And did I say its been in bottle one week It smells of honey, white raisin, and above all peach and apricot essence. It is virtually gelatinous and, amazingly, not at all cloyingly sweet on the palate, on the contrary its rapier penetration of a finish is only possible thanks to a level of acidity that pushes residual sugar off the radar screen and leaves this taster totally enervated. But theres no point hoping to get turned on by my poor prose: you just need to taste this. Talk about early days: there is still some CO2 palpable trapped on the thick palate! (P.S. About these ratings: As I have no track record in that regard, I can only seek to assure you that I shall resist grade inflation with all of my intellect, so dont suppose you are likely to see 98-99 points from my pen very often)..." in	EUR 50-100

This is a rare opportunity to taste the evolution of Australia's most famous single-vineyard wine— and what a sexy one it is. With shades of brick starting at its edges, the heady aromatics of a wine in its second decade of transformation are immediately apparent: spiced macerated cherries and blackberries, mocha, the cracked spines of old books, raw beef and hoisin-glazed mushrooms. It's silky in the mouth, the tannins still firm and powdery, but softening, curving into the folds of the wine, a spiced meat nuance lingering on the long finish..." in, 1er OHK	1 Flasche	EUR 650-1300
